Media Fact Sheet

- The new Schlage® electronic keypad locks and deadbolts will be available at select Home Depots, Lowe's, Menards and other leading home improvement centers starting in November and will retail for approximately $119 to $139.
- Ideal for securing entryways, home offices, utility rooms, storage areas, wine cellars and basement stairways, the new Schlage electronic keypad locks and deadbolts provide keyless access control for any door in the home.
- Doors equipped with the new Schlage keypad locks and deadbolts remain securely locked until a user enters his or her valid four-digit access code.
- The 11-button keypad is designed with large print numbers so it is easy for children and older adults to use. For enhanced visibility and style, blue light emitting diodes (LEDs) illuminate the keypad, as needed.
- Homeowners have the ability to store up to 17 additional four-digit user codes to provide family, guests or service providers with keyless entry. Owners have the luxury of adding, deleting or disabling access codes in seconds.
- Do-it-yourselfers of all levels can install the keypad products in minutes, using only a screwdriver. For added convenience, the locks and deadbolts are designed to fit most standard residential openings.
- The new electronic keypad locks and deadbolts are powered by a nine-volt battery that has an average three year lifespan. A premium nine-volt battery is included with the purchase of a lock, and the products are equipped with a low battery indicator that sufficiently warns consumers when the battery needs to be replaced.
